A Guide to Good Endodontic Practice Society Publishes Guidelines

The BES is proud to shortly be launching the above guide to support our work in promoting and advancing the discipline of Endodontics.

The guide has been produced by contribution of numerous BES members under the editorship of Dr Phil Tomson. We believe it will prove a useful reference for all members of the dental profession.

Keep an eye on our website and social media channels for the 'official' launch of the guide early next month.

Early Career Group Inaugural Event a Great Success

We've received some great feedback from those that attended the Study Day event last month:

"Great initiative; very helpful to have the opportunity to network"

"Great day, lovely to interact. So many inspirational people"

A summary of the day and gallery of photos has now been added to the website.
